Business Assistance Resource Guide For Environmental Permitting

Message from Director

On behalf of Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr., the California State Legislature, and the entire state family comprising its various Departments, Boards and Commissions, thank you for your business interest in our great State. The Governor's Office of Business and Economic Development (known commonly as "GO-Biz") was formed to serve you as the single point of contact for your business needs.

Most environmental permitting in the State of California occurs at the local level. The California Business Assistance Resource Guide for Environmental Permitting serves as a comprehensive reference document of key contacts for environmental regulatory agencies. This resource provides information on California's environmental regulators, the main points of contact for each state, regional, and local entity, and basic contact information for each entity. The guide also provides contact information for Ombudsmen, business assistance specialists, and compliance specialists who can provide services to you along the way.

Please check back periodically and visit us online at www.business.ca.gov. This Business Assistance Guide will be periodically updated with new information as the State responds to events and activities in the international marketplace as well as to your evolving business needs over time.

Should you have questions about the content included or referenced in this guide, please do not hesitate to contact our office.

For additional permitting assistance, be sure to visit www.calgold.ca.gov, for our online permit assistance tool, or contact our office for specialized permit assistance. We look forward to assisting you. Again, thank you for your business interest and welcome to California, the Golden State.

Cordially,

Kish Rajan
Director

About This Guide

The Business Assistance Resource Guide for Environmental Permitting serves as the single comprehensive source of contact information for environmental regulators throughout the state. Recognizing that businesses often interact with multiple state, regional, and local environmental regulators, this guide provides contact information for offices, ombudsman, business assistance liaisons, and compliance specialists across the state. The information includes office locations, contact phone numbers and fax numbers, email addresses, and websites. The guide is meant to serve as a quick reference tool to assist businesses in finding information on business assistance contacts. Users of this guide should call local agencies first. It is expected that this guide will be updated annually.

About GO-Biz

The Governor's Office of Business and Economic Development ("GO-Biz") was created by Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. to serve as California's single point of contact for economic development and job creation efforts. GO-Biz offers a range of services to business owners including: attraction, retention and expansion services, site selection, permit streamlining, facilitation through of regulatory compliance, small business assistance, international trade development, and assistance with state programs as well as coordination with local and regional agencies.

GO-Biz includes the following units:

Permit Assistance

The Permit Assistance unit provides comprehensive permit and regulatory compliance assistance statewide for businesses in California by serving as the central source of permit guidance. The Permit Assistance unit also works with local and regional permitting agencies to provide permit identification and regulatory compliance assistance at the local level. The team will also act as a neutral facilitator between state regulatory agencies and businesses to resolve permitting issues. The services provided by the Permit Assistance unit are confidential and free of charge. The Permit Assistance Unit also manages CalGOLD, the on-line permit assistance website that provides a listing of required federal, state, and local permits, webpage links, addresses, application forms and phone numbers.

Business Investment Services

The California Business Investment Services (Cal-BIS) Unit is comprised of a team of business development experts and specialists with in-depth insight into available resources, ongoing initiatives, and government programs that provide direct technical and financial assistance to companies interested in locating or expanding in California. Cal-BIS works closely with regional and local economic development partners to provide no-fee, tailored site selection services to company executives, employers, corporate real estate executives, and site location consultants who are considering California for new establishments, relocation and/or expansion opportunities.

International Affairs and Business Development

The GO-Biz International Business Unit is the State's primary point of contact for expanding California's international business. It functions to boost international trade through marketing support, attention to policy barriers and support for airport, seaport, and ground transportation projects.. It also attracts and supports new foreign investment into the state in conjunction with Cal-BIS and the Federal EB-5 Immigrant Investor Visa Program. This unit is also responsible for operation of California's foreign trade office in Shanghai, China.

Office Of The Small Business Advocate

The Small Business unit serves as the primary advocate and resource provider for assistance to California's small business community. The unit provides educational services on issues that directly affect small businesses and conducts direct advocacy on behalf of small business owners. The Unit facilitates resources for technical assistance, financial assistance as well as state procurement opportunities.

Innovation and Entrepreneurship

The Innovation and Entrepreneurship unit is the state's primary point of contact for promoting California's innovation infrastructure. It functions to develop an environment that encourages entrepreneurship, promotes long term economic growth, and facilitates job creation through innovation.. This unit is primarily responsible for the administration of California's Innovation Hub (iHub) Program.

Permit and Compliance Assistance and Training

Cal-GOLD

CalGOLD offers direct Internet links and contact information to state, local, regional, and federal permitting authorities. GO-Biz offers the Cal-GOLD system to provide permit assistance on the internet in a cost effective, consumer driven manner. Currently, Cal GOLD provides information on over 150 business types and contact information for relevant city, county, state, and federal agencies that issue permits. GO-Biz is working to further its partnerships with local and regional agencies in order to further streamline and coordinate multi-agency permitting processes on the internet.

Sacramento County Business Environmental Resource Center (BERC)

The Business Environmental Resource Center (BERC) was established in 1993 as a one-stop, non-regulatory Permit Assistance Center to help Sacramento County Businesses understand and comply with federal, state, and local environmental regulations.

www.sacberc.org

Environmental Training Centers

Sponsored through the Economic and Workforce Development program of the California Community College System, Environmental Training Centers (ETC), provide affordable and quality training in environmental compliance and management, occupational health and safety, homeland security/emergency response, and green technologies. A primary objective is to serve as liaisons between businesses and government agencies.

California Compliance School

California Compliance School is a joint program of California Environmental Protection Agency's (Cal/EPA) Department of Toxic Substance Control (DTSC) and the California Community Colleges. It is designed to bring basic hazardous waste compliance training to hazardous waste generators throughout the state.

California Environmental Protection Agency

Cal-EPA Mission Statement

In 1991, California's environmental authority was unified in a single Cabinet level agency--the California Environmental Protection Agency (Cal/EPA). This brought the Air Resources Board (ARB), State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB), Regional Water Quality Control Boards (RWQCBs) and the Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery (CalRecycle) under an umbrella agency with the newly created Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC), Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA) and Department of Pesticide Regulation (DPR). As an officer of the Governor's Cabinet with statutory responsibility (Gov. Code sections 12850-12856) to coordinate and supervise the overall performance of the Agency, the Secretary provides the vision and leadership that focuses the efforts of the Boards, Departments and Office of Cal/EPA on the goals of the Administration.

Office Of Enviromental Health Hazard Assessment

The Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA) is the lead state agency for the assessment of health risks posed by environmental contaminants. OEHHA implements the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, commonly known as Proposition 65, and compiles the state's list of substances that cause cancer or reproductive harm.

The Office also develops health-protective exposure levels for contaminants in air, water, and soil as guidance for regulatory agencies and the public. These include public health goals for contaminants in drinking water and both cancer potency factors and non-cancer reference exposure levels for the Air Toxics Hot Spots Program.

The Office also provides scientific peer review of pesticide risk assessments; works with the Department of Pesticide Regulation to develop regulations to protect pesticide worker health and safety; trains physicians to recognize pesticide-related illnesses; and works with the California Department of Food and Agriculture to provide health information on pesticide applications aimed at combating invasive species.

Department Of Toxic Substances Control

The mission of DTSC is to protect California's people and environment from harmful effects of toxic substances through the restoration of contaminated resources, enforcement, regulation and pollution prevention. The Office of Permitting is responsible for administering the Hazardous Waste Facility Permitting Program established under Chapter 6.5 of California Health and Safety Code, and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) authorization.

DTSC Regulatory Assistance Officer's role is to provide informal guidance about hazardous waste management, site cleanup and other DTSC regulatory information for the convenience of regulated businesses, other government agencies and the public.

Certified Unified Program Agencies

The Unified Program

The Unified Program consolidates, coordinates, and makes consistent the administrative requirements, permits, inspections, and enforcement activities of six environmental and emergency response programs (Unified Program Fact Sheet, PDF). The state agencies responsible for these programs set the standards for their program while local governments implement the standards. Cal/EPA oversees the implementation of the program as a whole. The Unified Program is implemented at the local level by 83 government agencies certified by the Secretary of Cal/EPA.

Air Resources Board

The ARB Sets and enforces emission standards for motor vehicles, fuels and consumer products, sets health-based air quality standards, conducts research, monitors air quality, identifies and sets control measures for toxic air contaminants, provides compliance assistance for businesses, produces education and outreach programs and materials, and oversees and assists local air quality districts that regulate most non-vehicular sources of air pollution. California has 35 air districts that regulate air quality at the regional level. Most of California's local air districts have a website and all have e-mail.

Office of the Ombudsman

ARB's Ombudsman operates independently of division staff, reporting directly to the Chairman of the Board. Essentially, the Ombudsman and her staff act as an unbiased party during disputes. The Ombudsman can investigate a complaint and make a recommendation, but has no direct, legal authority to make or reverse a decision.

If you have an interest in a specific air quality issue, the Ombudsman and her staff can help you gain access to the regulatory process. We want everyone who chooses to do so, to have an opportunity to participate in the development of California's air quality programs. We will work with you to determine ways in which you can get involved.

State Water Resources Control Board

State Water Resources Control Board

Created by the State Legislature in 1967, the five-member Board protects water quality by setting statewide policy, coordinating and supporting the Regional Water Board efforts, and reviewing petitions that contest Regional Board actions. The State Board is also solely responsible for allocating surface water rights.

There are nine regional water quality control boards statewide. The nine Regional Boards are semi-autonomous and are comprised of seven part-time Board members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Regional boundaries are based on watersheds and water quality requirements are based on the unique differences in climate, topography, geology and hydrology for each watershed. Each Regional Board makes critical water quality decisions for its region, including setting standards, issuing waste discharge requirements, determining compliance with those requirements, and taking appropriate enforcement actions.

Department Of Resources Recycling And Recovery (CalRecycle)

California's Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery (CalRecycle) brings together the state's recycling and waste management programs and continues a tradition of environmental stewardship. CalRecycle's vision is to inspire and challenge Californians to achieve the highest waste reduction, recycling and reuse goals in the nation. Through innovation and creativity, sound advancements in science and technology, and efficient programs that improve economic vitality and environmental sustainability, we build a stronger California.

Local Enforcement Agencies

Local enforcement agencies (LEA) are designated by the governing body of a county or city and, upon certification by CalRecycle, are empowered to implement delegated CalRecycle programs and locally designated activities. LEAs have the primary responsibility for ensuring the correct operation and closure of solid waste facilities in the state. They also have responsibilities for guaranteeing the proper storage and transportation of solid wastes. You can access CalRecycle's Local Assistance & Market Development staff directory online at: <http://www.calrecycle.ca.gov/lgcentral/reports/contacts.aspx>

Department Of Pesticide Regulation

DPR's mission is to protect human health and the environment by regulating pesticide sales and use by fostering reduced-risk pest management. DPR is funded by regulatory fees and has about 350 employees, including more than 120 toxicologists, environmental specialists, and other highly trained scientists.

A portion of DPR's budget supports local pesticide enforcement by the County Agricultural Commissioner's. Under DPR oversight, the Commissioners and the 250 biologists that work for them serve as the local enforcement agents for pesticide laws and regulations in the state's 58 counties.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL COMMISSIONERS, and SEALERS of WEIGHTS and MEASURES

The Agricultural Commissioner/Sealer of Weights and Measures carry out the following programs:

- Protects the public by enforcing pesticide laws and regulations, monitors applications for safety and environmental compliance, investigates pesticide related illnesses and complaints, and provides education to industry and the public on lawful pesticide usage.
- Monitors pest conditions and provides for the safe and efficacious control of those pests through issuance of restricted pesticide materials permits or alternative management methods.
- Monitors and facilitates the eradication of exotic pests harmful to California agriculture, including inspection of wholesale nursery stock and all plant material shipped to Sacramento through the postal, express and freight systems.
- Inspects plant products for export to a wide variety of foreign ports and issues export certificates required by importing countries.
- Collects and compiles crop and livestock statistics and prepares reports on crop damage and crop production.
- Manages the orderly burning of agricultural crop residues in an effort to allow the use of this important tool while minimizing the impact on urban areas, and works with producers to find alternative methods of agricultural waste removal.
- Administers the hazardous material storage inventory and carries out inspections of those facilities related to agricultural operations.

California's coastal management program is carried out through a partnership between state and local governments. Implementation of Coastal Act policies is accomplished primarily through the preparation of local coastal programs (LCPs) that are required to be completed by each of the 15 counties and 61 cities located in whole or in part in the coastal zone. Completed LCPs must be submitted to the Commission for review and approval. Development within the coastal zone may not commence until a coastal development permit has been issued by either the Commission or a local government that has a Commission-certified local coastal program. After certification of an LCP, coastal development permit authority is delegated to the appropriate local government, but the Commission retains original permit jurisdiction over certain specified lands (such as tidelands and public trust lands). The Commission also has appellate authority over development approved by local governments in specified geographic areas as well as certain other developments.
